PLEASE RETURN!

I'm standing in for Geoff Noble of Certax Accounting.

Certax are a firm of accountants and tax advisers based in Horsham.

They provide a full range of accountancy services with an emphasis on providing a personal service tailored directly to the clients own business, and specialising in providing effective tax advice to help business owners retain as much of their hard earned profits as possible.

This is achieved through a combination of many years experience, a knowledge of current tax legislation, and by gaining a full understanding of a clients business.

Geoff is looking for referrals to small business owners who don't feel they are getting value for money from the fees they are paying. The initial consultation is always free, so what have they got to lose?

For a refreshingly different accountancy service, call certax accounting, professional accountants with the personal touch.
